The Whole Affair Believed to Be the Work of Gamblers.

The Remarkable Statement of Dr. West—A Razor Assault at San Francisco—The Thorne Jury Disagrees—Chinese Arrested.

By Telegram to The Times.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 22.—(By the Associated Press.) A. M. Pullman, the American living at the Valley of Palms, who was arrested at Ensenada on last Friday for complicity in the alleged abduction of Whitman, has been released on bail, United States Vice-Consul Goetz signing his bonds. Pullman was advised by his friends here to demand an immediate trial, as it is claimed there is no evidence whatever against him. It is said that the whole story of the kidnapping emanated from a few gamblers, who were disappointed by Whitman's surrender, as they had formed a plan to relieve Whitman of his money.

DETERMINED TO DIE.

Suicide of Thacker P. Wales at Oakland Thursday Night.

OAKLAND, Sept. 22.—Thacker P. Wales was found dead in his room at the Wenner House this morning. He had shot himself through the head during the night. Everything in the room was arranged with care and neatness. On the table was found a note addressed to the Coroner, signed by the suicide as follows:

"This is a case of suicide by chloroform. Born at Syracuse, N. Y., February 5, 1824. It is my judgment that when a man is old and poor he had better be out of the world than in it. Good-bye."

Wales first tried to take his life by chloroform, and, failing, shot himself. The deceased was a member of California Pioneers, having come to the State in 49. He was a Mason and highly respected in this city. He was a street contractor, but of late had been getting little to do. He was without means, and had been in a despondent frame of mind for some time. His funeral will be held under direction of Masons. He left no relations on the Coast.

TO THE BOTTOM.

Mysterious Sinking of a Haytian Warship.

Eighty Men and Several Diplomats Drowned. Only One Man Survives—A Terrible Struggle on the Fated Craft.

By Telegram to The Times.

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—(By the Associated Press.) The steamship San Domingo, from Port au Prince, brings news of the foundering of Cape Tiburon, of the Haytian warship Alexandre Petion with a crew of eighty men and the following Haytian diplomats, who were en route to Santo Domingo to negotiate a treaty: Gen. Molini, M. Cohen, Haytian ex-Minister to Mexico, and M. de Jégou, Haytian Consul-General. One sailor was saved. The disaster occurred on September 6, about fifty miles south from Cape Tiburon. The cruiser had just been put into commission. She left Port au Prince on September 4, bound for Santo Domingo. The suddenness and the completeness of the disaster and the fact that only one sailor escaped makes the affair most mysterious. It is probable that the real cause of the wrecking of the ship will never be known.

According to the testimony of the sole survivor there was absolutely no warning. Neither a collision with another vessel, a submerged reef, nor a storm can account for the occurrence. The day was fair and the passengers were enjoying themselves in the cabin. Suddenly, without warning, the ship began to sink. The officers of the watch ordered the men to pass the word in the cabins and forecabin to reach the deck quickly and jump overboard. It was already too late. There was terrible confusion in the cabin as the panic-stricken passengers struggled to reach the deck. In a minute from the time she began to sink the vessel was entirely under water. One of the sailors, as the ship began to sink under him, snatched a pair of oars from the lifeboat and threw himself into the water. He caught a plank on which he drifted for thirty-six hours with nothing to eat or drink. He was picked up about fifty miles southeast of Port Piment. For a long time the castaway was unconscious and could not speak. The lost vessel was doubtless one of the most valuable of gunboats, so popular with the Haytians.

Cock Growing Contest.

A new amusement has been inaugurated in Belgium which permits the peasants to have some sport. It is a sort of competition in cock growing. The game is conducted in this way: In a garden are placed rows of cages, each containing a cock. Before each cage, about a yard away, stands a marker, who notes the cockerels of his rooster. The competition lasts for an hour, and it is the cock which has crowed the loudest that takes the prize. At the last competition a rooster crowed 134 times. Formerly cock growing was a game of the peasants, but it is now a game of the rich.

Streets and Street Cars of Buenos Ayres.

(Penny B. Ward.) The noise is deafening from the rattle of heavy-wheeled carts and wagons and the incessant rolling of street cars, one close behind the other. The clattering of hoofs and the payment is drowned and forgotten in the shrieking of the tramway horns. In front of each car, hung up just in reach of the driver's lips, is a cow-horn, upon which he continually toots with indefinite peace by day and murder's shriek at night. Most of the tramcars are open vehicles of American make with reversible seats, and are conducted by neatly dressed natives, while the small-sized native horse-drawn cabs are driven by a few colored men.

To last year's official reports, the six employ constantly 602 horses on 20,250 kilometers of track, with 35 coaches, and carried an aggregate of 9,000,000 passengers every month.

STEWART'S RETURN.

He Arrived from El Paso Yesterday Afternoon.

Claims to Have Been Robbed by the Chief of Police at El Paso—Undecided as to What Course to Pursue.

Arthur I. Stewart, the defaulting deputy street superintendent, arrived in the city yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock in custody of Detective Auble, and was taken at once to police headquarters, where he was interviewed at length by Chief Glass, in his private office. The journey from El Paso without incident, through the desert, along very willingly, and caused no trouble to the officer who accompanied him. After telling his story to the chief, Stewart was locked up for the night, after first having a short interview with Street Superintendent Watson.

There is a dispute as to the amount of money Stewart had when captured. He claims to have turned over to the Chief of Police at El Paso about $600. That official, on the other hand, says he had but $230, and that was all that was returned to Detective Auble. It is believed that this matter will be investigated at once, and if there has been any crooked work on the part of the El Paso authorities, proper steps will be taken in the matter.

Stewart was locked up in cell No. 1 for the night, and when the Times reporter was let in through the back door at 9 o'clock, he found the young embezzler comfortably ensconced on his cot, just preparing to get some much-needed sleep. He opened his eyes and looked up at the reporter with an expression of inquiry, and when he learned that his caller was a newspaper man, he smiled, and answered drowsily that he was not sure whether or not he had any statement to make.

"No; I don't think there is anything to say, and in my present state of mind I hardly feel like talking much."

"Is it true that you were relieved of a portion of the money you carried by the Chief of Police of El Paso?" was then asked by the reporter.

"Yes, sir," he replied emphatically and with a sincere ring in his voice. "When I was placed in the El Paso jail, the officers took from me over $600, and when I came out but $230 was turned over to Detective Auble. I am sure that the Chief of Police there took it, for, after I was locked up, he came several times to see me, and when I had when I came, as if he wanted to find out if I really did remember how much I had. I was perfectly dumbfounded when Auble came and asked me that there was but $230 in the police office left of my money. Chief Kink insisted that all he took from me was $230, and he believed it."

"It is reported that you had saved up about $1000 in cash in the Street Superintendent's office, and that when you were relieved of the money, that you took it along with you, is that so?" continued the reporter.

"No, it is not," was the reply, but further than that Stewart would make no statement, and that was the end of the matter.

The taking still continues good, and large catches are made daily.

There are about fifteen scholars in attendance at the school.

The two sons of G. C. Edwards of Los Angeles, who have been camping here for the past month, returned to the city yesterday.

With that Stewart stopped, and indicated that there was nothing more to be said on his part for the present. Altogether he was in a cheerful mood, and seemed thoroughly determined to take all of the blame in the matter upon his own shoulders, and not attempt to shift the responsibility of his crime onto others.

IT WAS AGREED.

How Restoration of Rates Came About.

A Contract That Now and Then Bobs Up Serenely.

To Extend the Western Passenger Association to the Pacific.

The Soo Line Opened to the Coast—Tramps Coming on Every Train—General and Local Railroad Notes.

The restoration of passenger rates between Southern California and Kansas City, which will take effect October 1, as stated in this paper yesterday, is said to have been brought about by correspondence between Vice-President Crocker of the Southern Pacific and President Reinhart of the Santa Fe. The Southern Pacific, becoming tired of the losing fight, is said to have made the first overtures for peace, and the Santa Fe was glad enough to agree to it. There were stipulations, however, that the agreement could be made only by the Southern Pacific restoring to the Santa Fe the right of through passenger service to Kansas City, which it had lost when it was absorbed by the Santa Fe.

The war, though brief, proved that there were not many people left in Southern California who could be induced by a $15 saving to take the train. It strained the relations existing between the Southern Pacific and its Ogden route and lost money for that company.

The war brought out one particularly peculiar circumstance which even the officials had overlooked. When the agreement was made that the Santa Fe route had cut the Kansas City rate $4 to meet the Southern Pacific's action, the latter company notified its conductors that they should refuse to honor any tickets issued by the Santa Fe lines. The Santa Fe officials in Chicago thereupon informed the Santa Fe officials in San Francisco that they would not do so.

It was in fact a case of the Santa Fe being bound not to build to San Francisco or into any other territory exclusively claimed by the Southern Pacific. This contract was too valuable to the Southern Pacific to refuse, but a way was found to get around it. Accordingly, another circular was issued to conductors, taking effect on the 20th, instructing them to refuse all tickets issued by the Southern California lines, signed by General Passenger Agent S. B. Hynes or H. G. Thompson, his successors, or any other agent of the Santa Fe.

It appears that as the Southern California lines became part of the Santa Fe system after the purchase of the latter by the latter, it was not included in the bond, and the tickets of Mr. Hynes or Mr. Thompson could be boycotted with impunity.

There is a suggestion that the restoration of rates and the consequent entente cordiale on October 1.

HABITS OF AUTHORS.

How Goethe, Dumas, Pater, Goldsmith and Others Worked.

(Youth's Journal.) Goethe was one of the most methodical of all writers. He rose at 7 and usually worked all the morning without interruption, giving the rest of the day to recreation. He knew the value of persistent toil, this great German. He knew that success would not come to any man; men must go to it.

Alexander Dumas used to say that it was the easiest thing in the world to write a book, but the hardest was to finish it. He wrote in a leather covered chair, at a library table well supplied with blue pen and a certain kind of pen and ink and proceeded to write; but before you began, before you seated yourself or wrote the first word, you should have given ten years of thought to the subject on which you intended to write.

This is hardly in accord with Dumas's method. He employed half a dozen struggling young writers as secretaries, gave each one a plot and told him to write out the pure gold of "The Three Musketeers" and he had it published under his name. In the zenith of his popularity a new romance was given to the public almost every other week.

Pope published nothing until it had been a year or two before him, and even then he revised it over and over again, making alterations that on one occasion his publisher thought it better to have the whole matter recomposed than make the corrections.

Goldsmith considered four lines a day very good, and it took him seven years to write "The Vicar of Wakefield." Hume wrote his "History of England" on a sofa, and went on quietly correcting every edition until his death.

John Henry Newman and Charles Darwin wrote very slowly. The former is said to have written "The Essay in Criticism" in 1842, and he himself attributed whatever clearness of expression he possessed to the great pains he took. Darwin looked upon composition as the most toilsome part of his labors, but with his innate devotion to duty he never shirked the disagreeable task.

Victor Hugo spent fifteen years in writing "Les Misérables," and we perceive how largely "genius is patience." George Eliot began "Romola" when a young woman and finished it an old woman. Gray polished every line with the greatest care, and his works show it. There are few finer things than the "Elegy Written in a Country Graveyard." Bernardin de St. Pierre copied his "Paul and Virginia" nine times before he might read it the more perfect. Sheridan watched long and anxiously for the bright thought which he embodied in his "School for Scandal."

Among the writers who displayed great facility in composition Johnson and Gibbon rank highest. Gibbon spent his printer's first and only manuscript of his stupendous work, "The Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire," and Johnson's high-sounding sentences were written almost without an effort. Lord Byron also composed very rapidly, but made a great many corrections. The same may be said of Scott, who probably turned out tons of manuscript during his life. His romances were composed with amazing rapidity. An entire volume of "Woodstock" was WORTHLESS CHECKS.A Coronado Justice' Sorry Plight.

He Obtained Goods by False Pretenses.

A Question of Guardianship in the Pratt Estate.

Charles More Sentenced to Two Years in San Quentin for Forgery—Orders in the Probate Court—The Calendar.

Edgar Fleming of San Diego was on trial yesterday in Department C before Judge Shaw and a jury consisting of Louis J. Stengel, George Gebhard, H. O. Gates, F. R. Slaughter, Edward Gird, John F. Branch, Stephen R. Ibbotson, E. C. Peck, H. O. Howne, Ruben A. Burke, John B. McComb and D. B. Fisher, the charge being obtaining property under false pretenses. Deputy District Attorney Dupuy represented the prosecution and J. S. Callen, Esq., appeared for the defense.

Fleming was accused of passing on June 22 three checks, drawn on the Consolidated National Bank of San Diego for sums aggregating $84.50, purporting to have been signed by one George W. Beamer, knowing that the same were false, and that Beamer had no funds in the bank named.

Fleming has heretofore held the position of justice of the peace at Coronado. According to the testimony in the case he came up to the city on the date mentioned and entered the second-hand store of M. Meyer on North Main street, where he entered into conversation with the proprietor about buying a watch. Meyer asked him if he didn't want to purchase a good timepiece, when Fleming replied that he had but little money with him. He finally offered the three checks, however, in payment for two watches, which Meyer accepted. It was found later that the checks were fraudulent and Fleming was arrested.

Meyer, the second-hand dealer, told a long, disconnected tale of the deal on the stand yesterday in the usual plausible manner common to Jewish traders, filling up the narrative with many explanations and protestations.

Frank L. Sargent, an officer of the Consolidated National Bank of San Diego, testified that no such person as Charles W. Beamer had ever had an account at his bank. He did not know Fleming.

S. E. Short remembered to have met Fleming and Meyer in the latter's store and afterward in a neighboring saloon. Meyer was trying hard to strike a bargain with Fleming for some watches. Fleming offered the checks to Meyer, but when the Jew demurred and questioned the genuineness of the checks, he said: "I don't want your watches; give me back my checks." All three had taken several drinks and were somewhat drunk.

The defense had put in no testimony up to the time of closing court last night. The case will be resumed today.

WANT A GUARDIAN APPOINTED. When Orville C. Pratt died some years ago he left surviving him a widow and two children, Lucy and Charles. The son afterward died also and the daughter married. Since that time Mrs. Pratt has had the sole control of the estate, which was quite extensive, and associated with her Gen. John Mansfield in the management of it.

Of late Mrs. Pratt has become almost a confirmed invalid, and a short time ago the daughter Lucy, now Mrs. Goodspeed, filed a petition with the consent and favor of the family of her deceased brother asking that she be appointed guardian of Mrs. Pratt on the grounds that the latter was incompetent.

Hearing on this petition was called yesterday in the Probate Court, C. F. Hanlon, Esq., of San Francisco acting in behalf of the petitioner.

Gen. Mansfield and Mrs. Mansfield had both been subpoenaed as witnesses and the General was asked to take the stand and give an account of his share in the management of the Pratt estate. This he objected to doing unless ordered by the court. Judge Clark held that he would readily consent to be furnished, so there was nothing left for the witness to do but comply with the order.

The attorney then put a number of questions to him regarding the expenditure of certain moneys, but received no reply that appeared to be at all satisfactory. Seeing that the cause would undoubtedly lead up to a lengthy contest, in order to allow further time for the collection of evidence, the court postponed further hearing until October 27.

Court Notes. The case of Graves vs. Bean, which was set for trial yesterday in Department Four, has been continued for the session by consent.

Alexander Larson, a native of Sweden, appeared as a successful candidate for admission to citizenship before Judge Van Dyke yesterday.

On account of the death of plaintiff, the divorce cause of Forbes vs. Forbes has been stricken from the calendar of Department Four.

Ten days' additional time was ordered allowed yesterday for amendment of complaint in the action of Tucker vs. Robbins in Department Five.

On motion of attorney for claimant the order made in the Wharriot vs. Donalech case granting a five days' stay of proceedings was modified by Judge Shaw yesterday to four days.

Charles More pleaded guilty yesterday to the charge of forgery, and upon time for sentence being waived, Judge Shaw sentenced him to two years imprisonment in San Quentin.

Judge Clark yesterday ordered as follows in the Probate Court: Estate of J. M. Duncan, deceased, petition to sell realty; granted. Estate of A. M. Morgan, deceased, will admitted to probate; estate of C. A. Falke, deceased, petition to sell realty; granted.

Mrs. Kate Gordon, an invalid who is troubled with attacks of mania, was yesterday committed to the County Hospital for treatment, the evidence being not sufficient to warrant her confinement in the asylum.

Today's Calendar. Department One — Judge Shaw (presiding): People vs. Edgar Fleming; false pretenses; on trial.

Department Two — Judge Clark: Clear.

Department Three — Judge Van Dyke (presiding): Clear.

Department Four — Judge Van Dyke: Prages et al. vs. Baldwin; to quiet title.

Dodge vs. Hughes; on appeal.

WE want one good cloak salesman—a good position for the right party is open. And while we want one good man to sell cloaks we want all the buyers we can get. We show this season a better stock, a better class of cloaks, a better fitting cloak than we ever sold before. We do not confine our purchases to one or two houses; we take the best from the best houses of the country. Cloak houses give us the first chance, knowing we handle more than any two of the largest cloak houses in the city, and in this way we are able to show a superior lot of styles and the best fitting cloaks in the market. Then we offer another advantage—if you want a cape at a lower price than we carry in stock, or if you want a cape different in style buy your materials here and we will cut, fit and baste your capes free of charge. No other cloak house in this city can offer you these advantages, as they do not carry piece goods and trimmings. We have cut several hundred capes this season and have not had a complaint about a misfit. Then you have the advantage of a good light in our Cloak Department. We make alterations free, and our large sales and light expense for cloak-selling enables us to sell cloaks very cheap. One price, plain figures, no discounts; that is the way we encourage cloak-selling. If you want to buy cloaks upon a beating-down process we tell you candidly we don't want your trade. If you want to buy cloaks upon a legitimate basis, upon a basis of reasonable prices, then we can sell you the cloaks. Our cloak stock is nearly all new; we cut prices on old stock and clear it out of the house. We have new Jackets with big sleeves and big collars; we have new Capes; we have everything that is desirable at a range of prices that gives more encouragement to economical buyers. Tonight we close at 6 o'clock—it will be the only dry goods house that will. Today, Children's Hose, worth 60c, 50c, 40c, 30c, 25c, now two pair for 15c, or four pair for 25c. Today, Royal Worcester Corsets—one line only of $2 corsets goes to the half-price table at $1. The Worcester Corset Company have quit making this number. Today, new Hats in the Millinery Department; more hats at a low price. We draw upon our Dress Goods Department for Millinery Velvets; this means a big saving to you.

WORKED THE TOWN

Two Insurance Agents at Santa Ana.

They Lived High, but Paid for Nothing.

Heavy Hotel and Livery Bills Left as Remembrances.

Three Months' Entertainment Secured on Credit—What is Known of the Two Men and Their Doings in Los Angeles.

A few days ago mention was made in the Orange-county correspondence of the Times of the doings of a couple of smooth life insurance representatives, who, it seems, were about to get themselves into trouble in Santa Ana, on account of numerous unpaid bills in amounts of from $5 to $500 each. In fact, every effort was made by one of the creditors to attach some personal property, which was supposed to be in the agents' hands, for a debt of over $100, but the young man, who was a little too quick for the creditor, and placed the property, which was notes on different citizens of Santa Ana and vicinity, in other parties' hands.

From the manner in which the young fellows manipulated affairs when their creditors began going after them, it was apparent that they knew just what to do, and when to do it, in order to save themselves from the strong arm of the law, and to appear before the public as innocent and unsuspecting, although unfortunate, parties to the trouble. So apparent was this that it was believed by many who were familiar with the circumstances that the strangers were deliberately and systematically "working the community," demanding and receiving the best of everything wherever they could, and paying for nothing. Being satisfied that such was the case, it was considered but just to the public that an investigation be made and their plan of action exposed. A Times reporter was accordingly sent out to dig up the facts of the case.

P. Lerch and H. E. Adams, claiming to represent the New York Mutual Life Insurance Company, with a general office in Los Angeles, arrived at the Brunswick Hotel in Santa Ana, June 7, 1893, and registered from San Francisco and Los Angeles. They soon made their business known to the head clerk, after having ordered one of the best rooms in the house, and arranged with him at a hotel and livery day for room and board, saying that, as they were likely to remain for some time, they would settle their bills at the end of each week.

They then proceeded to Turner & Pryor's livery stable and arranged with Mr. Pryor for livery service, saying that they were going to stay for some weeks or months, and would pay their bills weekly.

During the first week of their stay they spent considerable money at the various resorts, and extended their acquaintance as far as possible with not only the men of the town but the women as well. At the end of the first week they had paid for their bills at both the hotel and livery barn were not paid. Mr. Lerch, when the matter was broached to him, said that he would go to Los Angeles and get the money to square up all bills against both himself and Mr. Adams. He went to the city and remained away for some time, but when he returned he proceeded to live like a king, but paid for nothing, having all his debts booked until the return of his partner, who was then supposed to be the man who had the money.

Mr. Pryor, the livery-stable man, became uneasy about getting his money, and went to the hotel to see Mr. Adams, who was then in the city. Mr. Adams, in rooms 4 and 5, Bryson & Bonebrake Block, the general agent of the company, concerning the matter.

Mr. Valentine, according to Mr. Pryor's story, told him that he need not have any fears whatever as to getting every dollar that Messrs. Adams and Lerch owed him; that he would do so straightaway, and that they were making bushels of money down in Orange county, and that as soon as collections were made on the premiums for the policy, he would get paid well for all his trouble. This strong recommendation, coming from a supposed rich source, satisfied the keeper of the livery barn, and he returned home satisfied to still let his rig out to the representatives of the company in the same manner that he had been doing.

About this time a new man put in an appearance, one J. B. Hays. He registered at the hotel July 20, 1893, and informed the hotel proprietor that he was a representative of the New York Mutual Life Insurance Company, and that he had come to take the place of Mr. Lerch, who, by that time, had gone to Los Angeles again. He asked for the same room as Mr. Lerch, and sent his family representatives of the company and stated at the time that the bills would be settled all at once.

As up to this time, now more than a month from the time they first came to the hotel, no money had been paid either for board or livery hire, the livery stable man, however, became dissatisfied with their promises, and he again went to Los Angeles to confer with the general agent, Mr. Valentine. The result of the conference was the same, so it is claimed by Mr. Pryor, as upon his previous visit, Mr. Valentine claiming that everything would be brought out all right, and that the bills would be paid in a few days, as soon as money would come in on a number of notes which he then held that were due. Adams and Lerch, however, put off, and for the next month the agents continued to use his teams.

The hotel proprietor then began to pay the bills, and Mr. Lerch, who had been down the next week to settle up the rest of the account, but he never came.

During the next few weeks business was reported increasing, but all the premiums taken were made payable in notes due in thirty and sixty days, therefore they claimed they had no ready cash to liquidate their accounts. When pressed hard at this time for a settlement, Adams and Lerch claimed that Lerch had drawn over $400 of the money that they had expected to use in paying off their bills in Santa Ana, and sent his family back East; that he had done them a mean trick, but they did not dare say anything about it.

And so the matter went on from time to time, their debts increasing all the while. Mr. Valentine was in Santa Ana about two weeks ago, and in conversation with Mr. Pryor repeated what he had told him before, and added that if he (Pryor) would have Messrs. Adams and Hays give him an order on himself (Valentine) he would be able to get the first money that came in on the notes would be applied to his (Pryor's) account. Two orders, amounting in the aggregate to $186, were secured with some difficulty last Saturday evening, from Hays and Adams, and Monday morning Mr. Pryor took the first train for Los Angeles, expecting to have his orders cashed. To his surprise, when the money was presented to Mr. Valentine, he remarked more emphatically than elegantly, that they were not worth a dime; not worth the paper they were written on. The result was that Mr. Valentine owed him $300 or $500 more than was coming to him; that they were no good, and he could not become responsible for their debts.

Mr. Pryor returned to Santa Ana, and next morning early got out a writ of attachment on a number of notes deposited in the First National Bank, but before the papers could be served, Messrs. Hays and Adams rushed into the bank, withdrew the notes, and decided them with an attorney as the property of the company, thus foiling the attempt of the creditor to recover a portion of the amount due him. They make the claim that they will pay their debts when they get the money, but they have not the money now to do it. By this dodge they evade the strong arm of the law, and as they have no property their creditors are left with the hope that they have been "bled" to a considerable extent.

THEIR WORK ELSEWHERE.

About two weeks ago James Smith, a livery man from Fresno county, came down to Santa Ana, having heard that the agents were here, with a note against Mr. Adams for $125. He told his story here, and it was directly in line with the way the people here have been worked. The livery bill was run up to $250. Then to settle the matter up Adams turned over to the livery man an old horse and buggy for $125. The horse and buggy were sold for $125. The note Mr. Smith offered to any person for $10.

A few days after Mr. Smith's arrival in Santa Ana, he was seen in town from whom additional information was learned as to their operations in Santa Ana and vicinity.

AS "HIGH ROLLERS."

During their stay in this city they have made a record as being "high rollers." The names of several girls in this city, who make some claim toward respectability, are associated with the names of both Hays and Adams in a most complimentary manner. Adams admitted being a married man and claimed that his family now lives in Fresno county.

THEY LEAVE FOR NEW FIELDS.

Since their partial exposure of their methods was published in The Times, a few days ago, they have been trying very hard to get matters fixed up so they could leave the community. Promising faithfully to pay all their bills on the company last July, and have since been allowed to go to Los Angeles Thursday evening and Friday morning, but up to the present time the money has not been paid. Mr. Valentine, who is now in Los Angeles, is supposed to be the man who has the money.

Further developments in the case of the two insurance agents who have been cutting a big swath in Santa Ana show that the younger of the two, Adams, is now in the city, and is in the city for the purpose of getting a settlement from the company. Adams, who is originally from Fresno, was a former agent, but severed his connection with the company last July, and has since been acting as sort of a sub-agent to Hays, who was in charge of the Santa Ana territory. Hays is represented as a young man of good character and ability. His uncle is a banker in San Luis Obispo, and his mother is one of the wealthiest women of San Francisco. Hays is well known in the city, and has always borne an excellent reputation. His friends claim he has simply struck a streak of hard luck, and has been in such associations and the money stringency.

With regard to Adams, he is said to have a wife with six children at Fresno. Mr. Valentine, even by his own admission, is his own, while the other five were part of the family when he married the widow who is now Mrs. Valentine. Adams, however, is said to have been a gambler, and he is reported of him that he represented himself as an unmarried man, and that he had been in the business of the livery stable man, who now sues for his money, were for the purpose of taking moonlight rides with Mr. Valentine's private property.

Mr. Valentine repudiates Adams entirely, and insists that he has not been in his employ since July last. The Santa Ana people, however, insist that Adams was endorsed by Valentine when the matter of the bills was presented. It is said that the livery man denounced Valentine in his office, and he refused to do anything about his orders, and there came near being a personal difficulty.

THE COULTER STORY.

City Treasurer Shoulters Has About Run It Down.

Statement of ex-City Treasurer M. D. Johnson—A Man Who Knew Mr. Shoulters in Batavia—John D. Coulter.

City Treasurer H. J. Shoulters has about run down the authorship of the slanderous Coulter story, and is now only awaiting the return of Postal Inspector Flint from the North to ascertain from him personally the names of the men who called on him with the story.

Ex-City Treasurer M. D. Johnson, who has been absent from the city for the past two days, returned yesterday afternoon, and last evening left the following statement at the Times office:

MR. JOHNSON'S STATEMENT.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 22.—(To the Editor of the Times.) Having just returned from a trip to the country, I take the first opportunity to answer the newspaper statements regarding my connection with the published story of Mr. Shoulters' alleged difficulties in Kansas.

The narration came to me unsought, being first told me in my office by L. Austin, of the firm of A. L. Austin and Dr. Martin, doing business at No. 135 South Broadway, two reputable gentlemen I have known six years more. A day or two after this, Dr. Martin confirmed substantially what his partner had said to me. I could not believe it for several reasons, one of which would be the difficulty of collecting a pension, which I understood Mr. Shoulters was entitled to, in one name when the service had been rendered in another, and so expressed my doubts to a gentleman well informed as to the system in vogue in the United States Pension Office. He did not do this, even, until one of my informants told me he had made the same charges to the United States postal inspector, and that that officer's report had been forwarded to government officials at St. Louis or Washington.

If, in doing this, I have wronged Mr. Shoulters, I am very sorry, indeed, but do not see why I must be charged with the burden of circulating reports which I have not done. M. D. JOHNSON.

KNOW MR. SHOULTERS IN BATAVIA.

KANSAS, Sept. 22.—(To the Editor of the Times.) Seeing the article in your paper about H. J. Shoulters I briefly write you that I am from Batavia, N. Y., and that I am personally acquainted with H. J. Shoulters, George D. Kenyon of Los Angeles, formerly in the grocery business next to Smith, the dry-goods merchant, and I have since been acquainted with Mr. Shoulters, both in Batavia and Los Angeles. My point in writing this is to substantiate the charges Mr. Coulter has made, and coming from Batavia, N. Y., and that parties in Los Angeles were well acquainted with him, and to help stop a bad story, so far as the above may do it.

SOMETHING ABOUT COULTER.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 22.—(To the Editor of the Times.) Having noticed the articles in your paper with reference to one Coulter, "formerly of Kansas," I thought I would give some information on the subject which would tend to confound the charges Mr. Coulter has made, and one and the same person. I was intimately acquainted with John D. Coulter of Oswego, Kan. He was at one time deputy county clerk of Lawrence, Kan., and was a well known man. He was then appointed postmaster of Oswego, Kan., and in 1871 or 1872 he absconded, a defaulter to the government for several hundred dollars. With this exception Mr. Coulter's record in Oswego was that of a clean, upright and capable gentleman. I do not know Mr. Coulter, even by sight, but, unless he is a one-legged man, he cannot possibly be Coulter. The ex-postmaster was an old soldier and lost a leg when he was in the army, and he was a peg-leg. Instead of the modern cork leg, bearing his single error of being a defaulter for a few hundred dollars to the government, no man need be ashamed to be connected with John D. Coulter. A. L. Austin, the real estate man of Los Angeles, was intimately acquainted with Mr. Coulter, and no doubt will bear out all my statements. F. B.

SANTA MONICA.

Growing Demand for Houses—The Polo Games.

Inquiries about the various real estate offices seem to indicate that the withstanding the reported business lull here, there is a good call for vacant houses. In fact the demands of renters in this regard far exceeds the supply. A five or six-room cottage, anywhere in the heart of town, rents at from $15 to $20 per month. Business men are looking for a large travel here the coming winter.

The polo games, which have been of so much interest to the lovers of the sport, are to come to a termination to-morrow, the last game being played between the Santa Monica clubs will be played. The game on last Saturday between these clubs was a tie, and this result of the game will be of increased interest.

The case of the town of Santa Monica vs. Eckert & Hoff to recover a $300 judgment for long time contested in the courts, finally got to the Supreme Court, where it was decided that the defendants were liable for the judgment of the lower court. It seems that the defendants undertook to run two bars on one license, which the city authorities contended could not be done, and which view the Supreme Court took of the matter. Recognizing that they were defeated, Eckert & Hoff yesterday paid over to City Attorney Tanner the $300 judgment.

MISERIES OF CATARRH.

Complete Relief and Quick Cure.

By the New Method of Treatment.

Mr. Walter Greenwood, who lives at 420 South Fremont avenue, is another enthusiast who cannot speak too highly of the success of the new method of treatment. He makes the following statement:

"I know what it is to suffer the miseries of catarrh. I did for about three years. The least exertion gave me a cold, and I suffered from heavy to light weight clothing I would suffer with a severe cold for weeks. In fact I believe these frequent colds caused all my trouble."

"I had a watery discharge from the nostrils. My throat was most always sore. I had a very severe cough and a constant hacking and spitting. This led to pains in my chest and across over the lungs. My stomach became affected, and I could not eat in the morning without nausea."

"My friends advised me to try Dr. De Monco's medicine. After a time I commenced to feel better, and I put myself under their treatment. I feel first-class. I am perfectly satisfied with the results and cannot recommend Dr. De Monco and associates to all sufferers highly enough."

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.

Dr. Wong's SANITARIUM!

Four years ago my daughter, Verginia Bell, was treated by Dr. Wong for what physicians called hip disease, and was pronounced incurable after treating her for several months. She was afflicted with one of thirteen forms of cancer. His medicine effected a permanent cure in seven months. Two years ago my grandson became blind in one eye. Dr. Wong restored his sight in three weeks' time. A. L. SAVANNAH, Cal.

After I had been treated eleven years by six different doctors for consumption, and they had stated that I could live two months, I took Dr. Wong's medicine and was cured in seven months. I enjoy excellent health and weigh 150 pounds.

MISERIES OF CATARRH.

Complete Relief and Quick Cure.

By the New Method of Treatment.

Mr. Walter Greenwood, who lives at 420 South Fremont avenue, is another enthusiast who cannot speak too highly of the success of the new method of treatment. He makes the following statement:

"I know what it is to suffer the miseries of catarrh. I did for about three years. The least exertion gave me a cold, and I suffered from heavy to light weight clothing I would suffer with a severe cold for weeks. In fact I believe these frequent colds caused all my trouble."

"I had a watery discharge from the nostrils. My throat was most always sore. I had a very severe cough and a constant hacking and spitting. This led to pains in my chest and across over the lungs. My stomach became affected, and I could not eat in the morning without nausea."

"My friends advised me to try Dr. De Monco's medicine. After a time I commenced to feel better, and I put myself under their treatment. I feel first-class. I am perfectly satisfied with the results and cannot recommend Dr. De Monco and associates to all sufferers highly enough."

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.

No Clue to the Robbers. The bold robbers who entered Mr. Hamer's store at the corner of Main and Fifteenth streets, Thursday evening, and emptied the till of all the coin it contained, and then shot Officer Lennon in the leg while making their escape, have not yet been captured. The rig in which they made away was found in a yard on Macy street yesterday morning, and it turned out that it belonged to H. Althouse. Mr. Althouse had owned the rig, and was in the service in the church between Ninth and Tenth streets on Olive, early in the evening. When he came out his conveyance was found in the yard.

When found there was no blood in the buggy, and this tends to prove that neither of the men had been hit by the bullets fired from Lennon's pistol.

The police failed to get any clue as to the whereabouts of the men yesterday, and the fact that no description of them was secured renders their capture somewhat doubtful.

PUBLIC WORKS.

The Regular Weekly Meeting of the Board.

Recommendations Adopted for Submission to the City Council at the Regular Meeting on Monday Next.

The Board of Public Works met at the City Hall yesterday, when the following recommendations were adopted for submission to the Council Monday:

In the matter of the petition of G. W. Morgan et al., upon which petition the City Engineer has reported, we recommend that it be referred to the City Attorney, with the report of the City Engineer, for further investigation and report.

In the matter of the petition of Thomas Isbell et al., asking to have the grade established on New Fourth street from Lucas avenue to Fifth street, and on Fifth street from New Fourth street to Lucas avenue, and on Lucas avenue from Fifth to Sixth streets, we recommend that the same be granted, and the City Engineer present the necessary ordinance of intention.

In the matter of the improvement of Sand street from Broadway to Castelar street, and Broadway from Sand to Temple, we recommend that the City Engineer prepare special specifications, leaving a five-foot walk on the north side at the intersection of Sand and Broadway, and that the same be adopted before passing the ordinance of intention to do said work.

Ordinance of intention to improve Georgia Bell street between Sixteenth and Seventeenth streets, referred to this board, we recommend that the same be filed, as the ordinance to do the same by private contract has been passed.

In the matter of the motion from the member of the Ninth Ward, that the City Engineer present an ordinance to sidewalk First street, from the east side of the First street bridge to Boyle avenue, on the south side, we recommend that the same be granted, and the City Engineer to present ordinance in accordance therewith.

In the matter of the petition from Miss L. J. Hammond et al., in regard to turning water in the zanja, between Seventh and Eighth streets, on Pearl, we recommend that the same be referred to the City Engineer to investigate if the same can be done.

In the matter of the new ordinance to improve Hoover street, between Sixteenth and Washington streets, we recommend that the same be placed on its passage, as the original was in error including the entire roadway.

In the matter of the improvement of Iowa street, from the north curb line of Washington street to the south curb line of Tenth street, we recommend the acceptance of the bid of R. Sherer, for $3550, for street complete, incidentals not included, and the necessary resolution be adopted.

In the matter of the improvement of Council street, from the east curb line of Belmont avenue to the western line of Holt street, we recommend the acceptance of the bid of Gray Bros. A.S.P. Company, at 11½ cents per square foot for cement walk, be accepted, and the necessary resolution be adopted.

In the matter of the petition from C. In the matter of the bids for the improvement of Providence street from the northerly line of Orange street to the southerly line of Sixth street, we recommend the bid of Dodd & O'Garra at $5.45 per lineal foot for street complete be accepted, and the necessary resolution be adopted.

In the matter of the petition from J. J. Mann et al., in regard to the collection of garbage, we recommend that it be filed, and we further recommend that the necessary notice of days when garbage will be collected, be printed and delivered at the residences where collected, so that the people will have a proper understanding of the same. In the matter of the petition from the Imperial Savings and Loan Company, asking to have the grade of Hamilton street from Pasadena avenue to the north established, we recommend the same be granted, and the City Engineer present ordinance of intention.

Recommend that the Street Superintendent open up the gutters on Figueroa street south of Jefferson street as far south as the railroad tracks, and divide the water at that point, and the Water Overseer pipe the zanja ditch under gutter where same crosses gutter this side of track.

Recommend that the Street Superintendent have the shed moved back to the property line on Los Angeles street south of Seventh street.

Hamburger & Sons People's Store

Today and Tonight

We offer drives in Gents' Furnishings, Men's and Boys' Hats, Boys' Clothing, Shoes—and all over our house special inducements are offered to induce trade. Our goods are the best manufactured; no one can sell you better, no one for the price as well. An attempt to follow our prices and methods was followed by dire mercantile disaster. Who next? We do not importune our trade to purchase; you are a free agent in this house; the goods are shown, the price is quoted, it's wholly at your option to purchase or not. The public has confidence in our word; we could not strengthen it by mythical affidavits. When the time comes that we are required to state under oath to impress the truth of our statements then the People's Store will be no more. It is by truthful advertising and straight merchandising that we stand on top of the heap today. We offer better goods today at less money than you can purchase elsewhere. We ask you to inspect what we advertise and leave it to you to judge whether we carry out in our stores what we say in print.
